RESEARCH, DESIGN AND CREATION of Historic Faux Foods and Room Settings

Sandy Levins researches the foodways of bygone eras to create historically-accurate individual faux foods as well as entire period table and room settings. Above is the winter holiday dining room setting of Pomona Hall, a fully-restored 18th-century mansion operated by the Camden County Historical Society in Camden, New Jersey. Mrs. Levins is the president of that organization.
